B. GENERAL COUNSEL'S OFFICE

- I. Adoption of an Ordinance Providing for Five Percent Increase in Board Member Compensation for Each Day's Attendance at a Compensable Meeting of the Board

Resolution No. 2023 – 11 – 250

PUBLIC HEARING

General Counsel Lynne Bourgault provided a verbal presentation.

Director Rosario commented the raise is justified. Rosario shared he is not running in 2024 and one of the challenges identified when seeking board member applications for the East Bay Regional Park District is low compensation. The prerequisite to joining the Park District Board requires that the person of interest have another form supplemental income such as a full-time job with flexibility. This issue results in a greater number of candidates within the retiree community applying for Board Member positions and less youth applications.

Director Mercurio commented the $100 per meeting paid to the Board of Directors position in year

1980 is now worth $369 per meeting in the year 2023. Mercurio commented it would amount to almost exactly 3% per year which is a common Consumer Price Index increase. Director Coffey does not support raising the stipend to 5% because it exceeds the 3% the Park District workforce received in the last year of their contract. Coffey said he would support a 3% raise to reflect the raise of the Park District workforce. President Waespi expressed agreement with Coffey's position.

Motion moved by Director Mercurio, seconded by Director Rosario.

Directors For: John Mercurio, Dee Rosario, Dennis Waespi, Olivia Sanwong, Elizabeth Echols.

Directors Against: Colin Coffey, Dennis Waespi.

Directors Absent: Ellen Corbett.

Directors Abstain: None.

C. GENERAL MANAGER'S COMMENTS

2. Teen Eco Action Program Update

Acting Recreation Supervisor Megan Seccombe presented the Teen Eco Action Program. This deep engagement program completed its 26th year in 2023, serving four communities across the Park District through collaborative planning with community partners. Current communities served include Richmond, Oakland, Bay Point, and Hayward. Staff discussed the goals of the program, internal and external collaboration required to achieve these goals, and the assessments included to measure success.

Director Rosario asked whether this program is different than the Park District Naturalist Program. Seccombe responded the Teen Eco Action program is a specialized summer camp program that typically only runs during the summer season while the Richmond Rangers, Peralto Hacienda, the Oakland Rangers, and the Tilden Ranger programs typically run year-round, mainly through the school year. Adventure Crew ends around June and is an impactful Park District longitudinal programs. Rosario asked whether the program participants go home every day or camp out. Seccombe responded it is a day program and participants are expected to meet at their center for the programming before the start of the program. Participants are expected to sign in, get on the bus, and join staff to go to the park and other program locations. By way of public transit, staff typically takes the participants to parks in their backyard to support the benefits within their community. Director Rosario commented about doing trail work and planting six redwoods with Brothers on the Rise through Friends of Sausal Creek. Rosario shared five of the six trees are thriving. Director Echols asked whether job opportunities are an outcome of this program. Seccombe responded Park District partners are tracking. Staff often follow up with partners who provide annual debriefs after each program. Seccombe shared in the past year one of the HARD participants is now working as a Recreation Leader at Hayward. As former Leaders-in-Training, Teen Eco Co-Op and similar program applicants are prioritized and have a greater chance to receive an interview. Staff are tracking and aim to hire participants as Recreation Leaders. Seccombe expressed interest in tracking at a higher level and staff will continue to work closely with Park District partners. Director Echols asked whether the program participants are paid or this is solely a training program. Seccombe responded it is a volunteer service; however, Friends of Sausal Creek and other organizations give stipends of up to $200 per week and 20 hours of community service. Payments are prorated if participants have unexcused absences. Director Echols asked whether they could attend more than once. Seccombe responded there are the occasional repeats to the program who are reselected through the program partners. Seccombe commented staff's focus is to consistently provide opportunities for first-time recruits joining the program and added the current age parameters support this effort naturally. Priority is given to first-time participants on the cusp of turning 18 to ensure opportunities are being provided before the recruits age out of the program.

Echols asked whether there is more than one session in the summer. Seccombe responded there are four sessions. Staff works with Richmond, Pinole, Hayward, Castro Valley, and occasionally Fremont. Sometimes teens will commute. It is whoever our community partners. For example, Brothers on the Rise serve mainly Oakland and Ambrose Teen Center from Ambrose Parks and Recreation mainly serves Bay Point. The Park District provides one session per partner. Partners are offered four weeks of special camp and each one gets one week. Director Mercurio commented there are many program services going on at the Park District in addition to the parks and trails service. Seccombe expressed appreciation for collaborations with the Naturalist staff at Black Diamond, Coyote Hills, Tilden Nature Area and Crab Cove. In support of the 2nd Century District Plan, Director Sanwong mentioned that when meeting with the consultant regarding the Request for Proposal there is a necessity for Park District staff to include youth programs and employment. Sanwong added, the Park District programs are great; however slightly fragmented. Sanwong wants the programs to come together more comprehensively and harmoniously. Sanwong expressed interest in seeing the Park District's goals for young people, a review of the challenges, the origins of these opportunities, and review and assessment of the gaps. Sanwong looks forward to Chief of Planning, Trails, GIS, and Cultural Services Brian Holt and the planning team including this within a comprehensive chapter of the plan. Sanwong expressed importance and interest to address so many different activities. Sanwong included Lifeguard Services as yet another example that provides youth programming.
